Broward County remains under a Flood Watch and some areas are still experiencing rain and wind as Tropical Storm Isaac continues to move away from South Florida. A Wind Advisory is in effect for all of mainland South Florida, and a Gale Warning is in effect for all South Florida waters.

The Broward County Emergency Operations Center is at Level 2 (partial) activation, but expects to move to Level 3 (Monitoring) this evening or early Tuesday morning.

The Broward County Emergency Hotline is open today from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Call 311 in Broward or 954-831-4000.

All Broward County government agencies are open for business today EXCEPT the North Regional/Broward College Library, South Regional/Broward College Library and Nova Southeastern University Alvin Sherman Library, Research and Information Technology Center, which are closed due to Broward College and Nova Southeastern University campus closings.

The downtown Governmental Center, Government Center West, Broward County parks, all other Broward County libraries and other County government locations are open today. Broward County Transit and Paratransit are on a normal schedule. Garbage pick-up and recycling for municipalities and unincorporated areas are on a normal schedule.

- The Broward County Emergency Operations Center was coordinating damage assessments with municipalities early Monday morning with reports of mild to moderate flooding in isolated areas, and mild to moderate damage in isolated areas, with light debris. Motorists are urged to use caution as there is some debris in the roadways and some signal lights are not operating. Drivers should treat intersections with non-operational traffic signals as a four-way stop.
- Florida Power and Light reports there are 23,420 residents without power and crews are out making repairs.
- Fort Lauderdale-Hollywood International Airport remains open with some storm-related flight cancellations and delays. Travelers should call their airline for updates.
- Port Everglades has reopened landside operations. Waterside operations remain closed. Cruise passengers should contact their cruise lines for updates.
- Closed today are: Broward County Schools, Broward Sheriff's Office Administrative Offices, Supervisor of Elections Office, Broward County Property Appraiser, 17th Circuit Court, Clerk of the Court and Court Administrator's Office.
